

Top 10 Reasons for Divorce in America

In America, there are tons of divorces happening each day. A divorce is not easy to go through and the couple should try their hardest to avoid a divorce. However, some people, no matter how hard they try are not able to avoid the big “D.” Let us give you the top 10 reasons for divorce in America ...

10. Boredom

We are listing boredom as number 10 on this list. Sometimes, people just get bored with each other.

9. Careers

Sometimes, work can get in the way of a marriage and this could lead to a divorce. For example, he works nights and she works days – the couple never gets to see one another, so the ending result is a divorce.

8. Not Being Able to Have Children

Some people really want children of their own and when they find out their partner is not able to have children, it may result in a divorce.

7. Loss of Interest

Sometimes, people just grow apart. They do not realize that they can find each other again; instead, they go and get a divorce.

6. Abuse

When you are being abused in a marriage, whether it is physical or emotional, you need to seek help. Abuse is number 6 on the top 10 reasons for divorce in America.

5. Lack of Communication

Face it, every marriage needs to have communication. When communication is lacking, then you are in the danger zone of a divorce. Lack of communication is number 5 on the list of top 10 reasons for divorce in America.

4. Addictions

Being addicted is harmful to you and it is harmful to your marriage. We have listed this as the fourth reasons for divorce in America.

3. Social Networks

Face it, we are not going to name any names here, but those social networks open up the doors to past flames. When those doors are opened, the communication and memories start to reopen.

2. Cheating

Cheating is a major role in divorce in America. It isn't just men who are cheating on their wife, it is women who are cheating on their husband. Healing a marriage after the spouse has cheated is hard to do and many times, the couple will not succeed.

1. Money Problems

In this day and age, money problems are a big issue. It is sad to see divorces that are caused by money problems, but it does happen.

